

Foreign Language Personal Assessment Form

For MA and PhD Applicants in Art History The Pennsylvania State University

Where do you believe your level of proficiency will be in the following languages by the beginning of the semester you enter Penn State, if admitted? Please place an "X" on the following scales:

	No Knowledge	Reading Ability	Fluent
Chinese	_____	_____	_____
French	_____	_____	_____
German	_____	_____	_____
Hindi	_____	_____	_____
Italian	_____	_____	_____
Spanish	_____	_____	_____

Additional Languages (other than English)

_____	_____	_____	_____

Your background in these languages is taken into consideration in reviewing your application. Reading competence in foreign languages is not a requirement for admission into the graduate program, but there are language requirements for completing both the MA and PhD degrees in Art History. Specifically, reading knowledge of one language other than English is required for the MA and reading knowledge of two languages in addition to English for the PhD. Please see the Graduate Bulletin for more specific information on program-specific language requirements.

For applicants for whom English is not your first language, an official TOEFL score must be submitted with your application. A score of 550 (paper) or 213 (computer) is the minimum for admission.
